It seems only fair that non-public schools should not be excluded from the list of the 'nation's poorest schools.' Many non-public schools are not private elitist schools but are deeply involved in serving the poor.

The non-public school of which I am the superintendent is in rural Nebraska, a depressed area with 33 % of our students on free and reduced lunch. The average per household income in Richardson County is barely over $23,300.

Respectfully,
